Please Read Before Ordering

ORDERS. As all our bulbs are imported to order, customers must send us their orders on or before July 15th. After that date we will supply varieties as ordered if possible; but on these late orders the customer should specify whether other kinds may be substituted.

In order to take care of the requirements of those customers who are not able to order their bulbs before planting time, we carry in stock, limited numbers of certain of the most popular and best kinds. Watch carefully for the letter! Those kinds are marked by a letter (S) placed before the name of the variety. Selections made from those kinds we will be able to take care of until the end of the season or as long as stock on hand lasts.

No order for less than five bulbs of one variety will be entered, except where prices are quoted by the single bulb. By ordering from us before the middle of July, instead of waiting to buy from a local dealer in the fall, you make a saving in costs and get a superior quality of bulbs. Your order will be selected and packed in Holland and will be shipped to us. Immediately upon arrival from Holland we will forward bulbs to you in the best possible condition. If you wish to take advantage of our low import prices, we must have your order preferably at once but not later than July 15th. Bulbs need not be paid for until after delivery but if you have no account with us, please send references with your order. The long experience of Mr. J. J. Grullemans, who spent more than fifteen years growing bulbs in Holland, enables us to know the best growers and also the best varieties of bulbs, thereby enabling us to give better service than most houses in the country. Bulbs, like all other commodities, have been greatly reduced in price. Should any reduction in prices occur after your order is placed, we will bill the bulbs to you at the lower price. We import nothing but the choicest stock obtainable; pay the price for choice stock and in turn ask a reasonable profit from our clients. Anyone not satisfied with the bulbs when received may return them without hesitation. We guarantee bulbs to be true to name but we cannot guarantee flowering as so much depends upon the care given. Customers can depend on getting their bulbs delivered promptly in the fall, providing they order early. Please do not wait but send your order as soon as you receive this list; it will help us greatly to handle our business and insure your getting the bulbs wanted.

SHIPPING INSTRUCTIONS. Please send full shipping instructions. State whether goods are to be shipped by express or parcel post, and by what route. In the absence of instructions, we will ship by whatever method and route we think best.

TERMS OF PAYMENT. Our terms of payment are invariably cash on delivery, which does not mean that we ship C. O. D., as we will not do so under any circumstances. We deliver the goods and mail bills at the same time, and expect payment within a few days. People unknown to us will please send references with their orders. Those who wish to send cash with their orders will be allowed a discount of 5 per cent from the prices quoted on this list on all orders made up from this catalog, received before July 15th.

CLUB ORDERS. No smaller quantities will be supplied than those quoted in the list, except that five bulbs will be furnished at ten price, twenty-five at hundred price, and two hundred and fifty at thousand price; it is suggested, where possible, that two or three friends or neighbors combine their orders and take advantage of the thousand or hundred rate.

PARCEL POST. Bulbs and plants can now be sent by parcel post, and when it is advantageous we always do so.

TULIPS FOR FALL PLANTING

For gorgeous display as an early spring flower, the Tulips are, without question, supreme. They are so entirely hardy and easily cared for, and they flower so freely in city or country, in sun or shade, that their popularity never wanes but increases year by year. By proper selection of varieties, their flowers may be enjoyed from early April to June and they come in almost every conceivable hue, surpassing all other flowers in range and brilliancy of color. Those who know Tulips in their infinite beauty and variety do not wonder at the wild enthusiasm and speculation which raged in Holland during the first part of the seventeenth century, when single bulbs of new varieties sold for more than their weight in gold. For centuries before the "Mania" in Holland, the Tulip had been cultivated and greatly prized by the Turks, who had even at that time developed many improved varieties from the native wild forms of Persia and Asia Minor.

Although its popularity today is more widespread than ever, the Tulip, fortunately, is no longer a flower for only the wealthy. Bulbs of all but the most recent novelties are low in price and well within the range of the most modest pocketbook. The Tulip is, indeed, a flower that every lover of the beautiful may enjoy.

There are several classes or types of Tulips, differing in height and season of bloom, range of color, and other characteristics. All are easy to grow and hardy outdoors, while most of them are also easily forced in pots or pans in the house. The Single Early Tulips are the first to bloom in the spring. In outdoor beds, the bulbs should be planted 5 to 6 inches apart and covered with 3 or 4 inches of soil. For house culture, plant four to six bulbs in a 6-inch pot and a proportionate number in the larger bulb-pans. Treat them in the same manner as Hyacinths and remember that a good growth of roots is essential before the plants are brought into the light.

In the following lists of Tulips we have indicated by figures after the names of varieties the average height in inches to which they grow. Varieties most suitable for forcing are indicated by a star (*).

Darwin Tulips

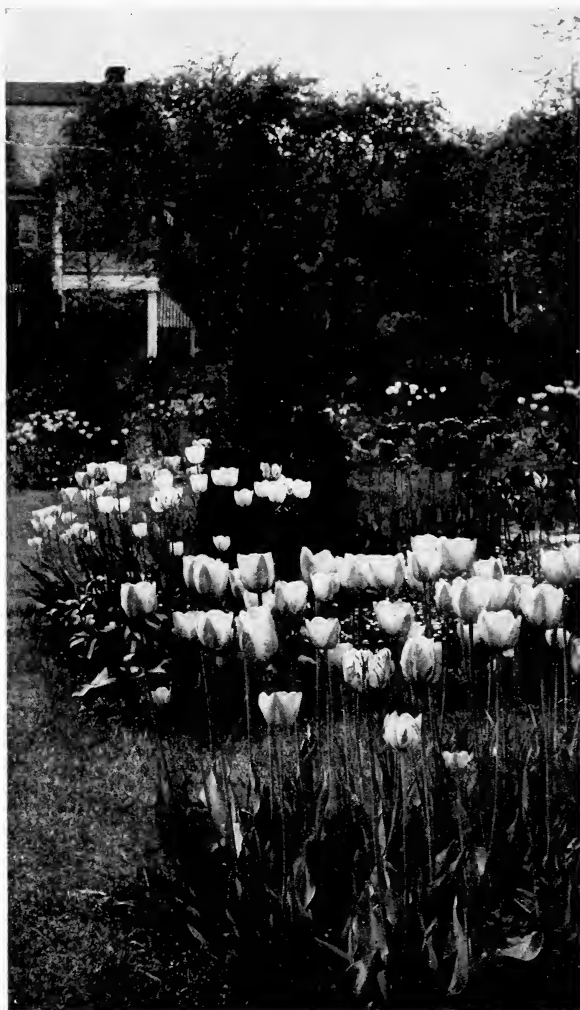

The Darwin Tulips were developed in the north of France, supposedly from choice varieties of Bybloom Tulips. Owing to the unusual clearness of the colors, to the substance of the petals, and to their vigorous growth, these seedlings, when they came into the hands of the prominent Dutch firms, seemed worthy of forming a new class of Tulips. In 1889 they were named in honor of Darwin, and offered for sale. They remained little known for a number of years, but with the renewed interest in the Tulip, which sprang up in England at the beginning of the present decade, they commenced to receive attention. In America the Darwins are now widely appreciated, and their popularity here promises to exceed the favor they have enjoyed so long in Europe.

The colors include the brilliant scarlets and crimsons, and the more somber tones of red. The shades of rose and pink, of violet, and purple are unsurpassed for their delicacy or their richness of color. There are slate blues and blue-violets which might almost be called blue, while Dumas' "Black Tulip" is very nearly realized in some of the dark maroon varieties. There are no yellows. All the bronze and buff tones are Breeders; while bright yellow and orange-scarlet must be sought among the Cottage Tulips. The Darwins may be left undisturbed for two years, but it must be kept in mind that Tulips are not long-lived in our soil and climate.

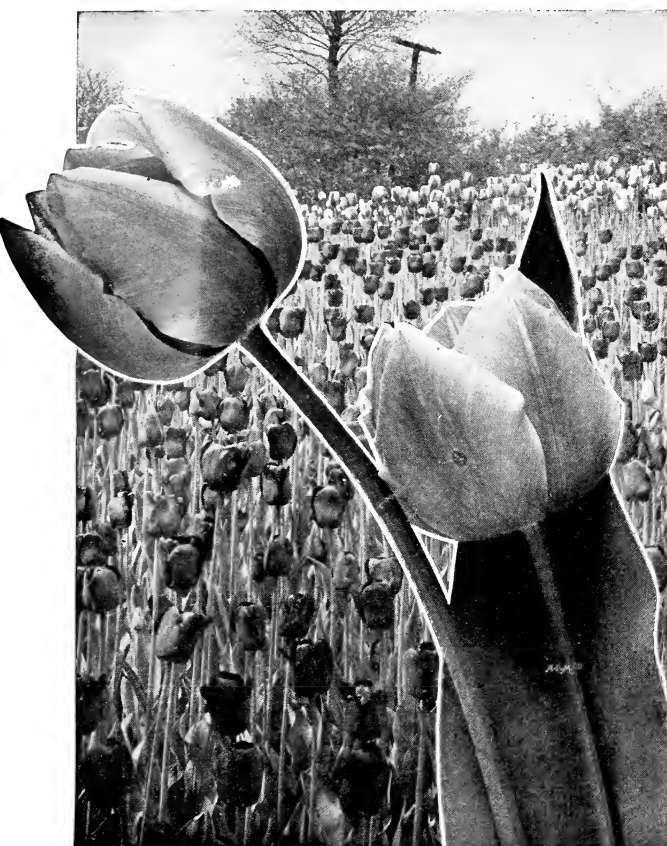

When forced, some varieties lose their true color, but they gain a pleasing softness that compensates for the lack of brilliancy.

The Figure Following the Name Indicates the Relative Time of Flowering.

Mammoth Breeder Tulips

The Breeder Tulips have been favorites in Holland for centuries, but it is only within recent years that they have become known and appreciated in America, and now they bid fair to rival even the Darwin Tulips in popularity.

Their majestic size and remarkable colors place them distinctly in a class by themselves. Every lover of the more somber shades cannot fail to revel in the rich and artistic blendings of purple and old-gold, bronze and terra-cotta, brown and violet, and buff and maroon found among the Breeders. They are late to bloom but surpass in size and vigor the Darwins, although lacking the color brilliancy of the latter. The flowers are, many of them, sweet-scented and all splendid for cutting as they retain for a long time their form and color.

Rembrandt Tulips

These are late Tulips, similar to the popular Darwins in season, height and habit of growth, but distinguished by their unusual colors and markings. The ground colors are mostly delicate shades of rose and lavender striped and splashed in an odd but attractive fashion with darker shades. Cottage or May-Flowering Tulips

The Cottage Tulips come into bloom in early May, after the Early Single varieties have passed. They are hardy and robust, with long, slender, but very stiff stems. The flowers are mostly long and oval, many of them with the petals gracefully reflexed. The Cottage Tulips as a class are rich in the more delicate and artistic shades of yellow, orange, and fawn with salmon, old-rose and amber. They are the best of all Tulips for cutting and they develop best when planted outdoors, including the earlier kinds of Tulips.

Giant Trumpet Daffodils

Narcissi

These are among the most charming of our spring flowers, defying, in their earliness, the rough winds of April to grace our lawns and borders. Plant them in masses or have a few pans in your window-garden, but, by all means, grow some.

Daffodils may be treated as advised for hyacinths; they are not particular as to soil and will thrive for a number of years in ordinary soil. They are, with few exceptions, suitable for naturalizing and, while preferring partial shade, will thrive in full sun exposure. They are very desirable for pot culture, three to five bulbs in a 5- or 6-inch pot producing an attractive group. By planting one or more varieties in succession, such a display may be enjoyed throughout the first three months of the year.

If wanted by parcel post, add postage at your zone rate. First-Size Bulbs weigh 2 pounds per ten; Mammoth Bulbs, 3 pounds per ten.

Hyacinths

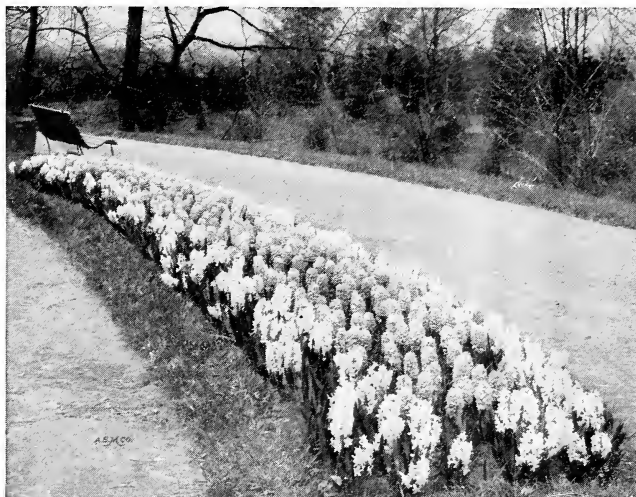

Extra-Selected First Size Bulbs

First-Size Hyacinth bulbs are suitable for both indoor and outdoor culture, being used almost exclusively for growing in pots and pans, as they force easily and bear large, well-developed trusses. They produce the largest flowers outdoors also.

We are no longer listing the double varieties as they have little to recommend them but their novelty and seldom give satisfactory results. The single-flowering varieties force more readily and make far larger and finer trusses.

Culture in Pots, Bowls or Boxes

Use porous soil thoroughly mixed with well-rotted manure and some sand, and provide for drainage. A single bulb will require a 5-inch pot. Allow same proportionate space when planting a number of bulbs in larger pots or window-boxes. Remove any sprouts there may be at the base of the bulbs. Plant the bulbs so that the tops appear just above the surface of the soil, water thoroughly, and place in a cool, dark but airy situation until the roots are well established, then bring to the light.

Snowdrops

However carefully Snowdrops are selected, it is impossible to ensure the singles and doubles coming quite true. The bulbs manifest an unusual tendency to run out of character, and are therefore offered in a mixture only.

Winter Aconite (Eranthis Hyemalis)

The Winter Aconite is the very "firstling" of the year, covering the ground with gilt spangles in the bleakest days of February, or March in colder states. Any soil or situation will suit this flower, and it should be planted in large patches within view from the windows.

Lilium Candidum (Madonna Lily)

Choice Northern-Grown. Arrive in August or September

The favorite Lily of the old-fashioned garden, produces strong, stiff stems, studded with pure, glistening white flowers, that enliven the perennial flower-garden and contrast beautifully with the green shrubbery of June, frequently growing 4½ feet high.

Plant some bulbs during September and October and enjoy a big crop of flowers next June; or pot up, store in coldframe, and force for early winter in the greenhouse or conservatory. Our bulbs of this splendid Lily are grown in northern France, and are of the true thick-petaled variety, which is much superior in habit and flowering qualities to that of the cheap, loose, southern-grown bulbs.

Large Bulbs	$2.00	$15.00
Selected Bulbs	2.50	20.00
Mammoth Bulbs	3.50	30.00

Our bulbs of this splendid white Lily are the finest that come to America and are much larger than those usually sent out. We supply the best bulbs only from northern France.

Lilium Regale or Myriophyllum

It is absolutely hardy, and is excellent for forcing. It has been predicted that this will become the Easter Lily of the future, and being so hardy, may be grown at home. The flowers are white, slightly suffused with pink, with a beautiful shade of canary yellow at the center, and extending part way up the trumpet. It is delightfully perfumed, reminding one of the Jasmine, and lacking the heavy, oppressive odor of most Lillies. Blooms out-of-doors early in July. (Bulbs ready in October).
